MEDICINE FOR ALL ILLS.

TALMAGE AT THE TABERNACLE

"And His Disciples Came, and Took Up the Body and Buried it and Went and Told Jesus."—Yesterday's Sermons of the Brooklyn Divine is Full.

BROOKLYN, Nov. 29.—[Special.]—There was a reception at the Brooklyn Tabernacle this morning, and the Rev. T. De Witt Talmage, its pastor, gave the right kind of fellowship to about 20 new members. The opening hymn was that beginning:

"Jesus took up the cross alone, And all the world go free?"

Dr. Talmage's sermon on "Medicine for All Ills," was founded on the text: "And his disciples came, and took up the body and buried it, and went and told Jesus."—Matthew, xiv, 12. Following is the sermon in full:

"It is not uncommon for us to be tempted."

You have one kind of temptation; you another, you another. There is not a person in the world who is not a sinner, but there is no sin which they could make up for.

You may be free from certain kinds of temptation, but there are other kinds after you.

You see some men with a phlegmatic temperament. "Why," you say,

"that man hasn't any temptations at all." You are right. He has temptations in his home, in his business, in his trade, in his profession, in his social life, in his religion, in his church, in his home, in his wife, in his children, in his friends, in his neighbors, in his business, in his trade, in his profession, in his church, in his home, in his wife, in his children, in his
